

Crossing Boundaries

One of the things that makes ISAA stand out as an organisation is that its membership is made of scholars from a wide variety of fields in the arts, humanities and sciences. ISAA members are aware that there is both interest and value in crossing over the boundaries of the disciplines.

As early as 1959 C P Snow (scientist and novelist) gave the Rede Lecture on 'The Two Cultures', and published in book form as The Two Cultures and the Scientific Revolution the same year. Snow maintained that science and the humanities, which represented "the intellectual life of the whole of western society", had become split into 'two cultures' and that this division was a major handicap to both.

This Conference, our first physical conference since 2019, offers a variety of 'boundaries' and a variety of ways of crossing them

ISAA ANNUAL LECTURE

Democracy is not a spectator sport

Cathy McGowan AO

During the 2022 election campaign, over 20,000 'ordinary community members' committed to be participants in the Australian democracy system, supporting locally nominated community independent candidates. For a significant majority it was their first ever taste of political engagement. The results are impressive..

But there's a complex background revolving around a kaleidoscope of factors. Cathy was one of the early leaders of his movement. How did it come about and where is it going?

Cathy was the Member for Indi 2013-2019. She was awarded the Accountability Round Table award for political integrity and is an Officer in the Order of Australia and a Churchill Fellow. She lives very happily on her farm in the Indigo Valley in North-east Victoria
